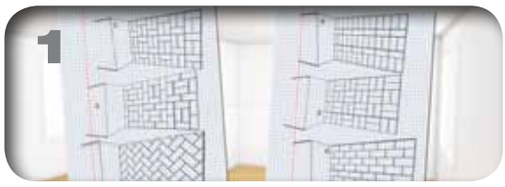
Installation Technique



Choose your pattern and draw a plan on a sheet of paper. The plan will serve as a reference during the installation of your panels.

First of all, draw a level line. This will allow to properly start the installation process, even if your wall is not perfectly straight. Don't rely on the wall, the level line is your starting point.

Apply construction adhesive to the back of your first panel and align it with the level line. You will then have to glue most of the other panels, depending on the pattern you have chosen.

To secure the panel once it has been glued, insert the strips in the grooves.

Nail into the strips at a 45 degree angle. This will allow to camouflage the nail heads and provide a smoother finish.
